What is Amateur Radio?

Amateur Radio has existed for more than 100 years as a Do-it-Yourself hobby, providing learning opportunities in computers, electronics, geography, math, and physics. There are no age limits. Amateur radio operators provide communications for numerous public events and emergency communications when called upon. Events like Field Day provide practice setting up and operating in emergencies such as earthquakes, wildfires and floods.

To learn more, join us at Field Day, a club meeting, or on the web.

What is Field Day?

ARRL Field Day is the most popular on-air event held annually in the US and Canada. Operators set up portable stations and communicate with each other over distances great and small. It is a time when many aspects of Amateur Radio come together to highlight our many roles and interests. Field Day is a picnic, a campout, practice for emergencies, an informal contest and, most of all, FUN!
